WHO ARE WE?

The Sexual Assault Centre Kingston provides free, confidential, non-judgmental support to survivors of sexualized violence, offers high school and community education on issues of sexualized violence and strives toward the prevention of all forms of sexualized violence.

We will be visiting Sydenham High School the week of February 13th to inform youth of the emotional and psychological consequences of sending and sharing intimate and private images without consent.

Please feel free to visit our website www.sackington.com and www.draw-the-line.ca for more information on prevention and awareness of sexualized violence.

Why draw the line?

When we look away from sexualized violence we make it easier for the perpetrator to continue - and the violence. Every choice we make and every action we take - no matter how small - has the power to make a difference.

When to draw the line?

Consent matters. And consent is something that must be asked for every step of the way. What's more, sharing or possessing a nude photo of someone under the age of 18 can be legally defined as possessing or distributing child pornography.

How to draw the line

Getting involved doesn't have to be (and ideally shouldn't be) a big deal. You always have options.

It stops here when you don't send it to anyone else

Press delete and don't look at the picture in the first place

Call your friend out by telling them it's definitely not cool

Remember, It's never your fault. You're not alone. Tell someone you trust.

Sexual violence is everyone's problem. Break the silence.
Make it stop. Spread the word.
